

Driving with Andy has been a pleasure. It is likely that you have heard horror stories about mean, lazy and exploitative driving instructors. Andy is not one of them. He is punctual, honest and engaging. Andy never lost his temper, swore or verbally abused me. Not once. At times, it felt like I was making the same errors repeatedly and I would get very frustrated, but Andy's mode of operation never changed. He would assure me that I am a capable driver and remind me of what I need to be doing, over and over again until I got it right! He is astoundingly patient and calm, a true professional.

I would say that Andy's approach to teaching is 'firm but fair'. He will let you know when you've done something right and he will gently correct you when you've made a mistake. I really valued this.

It's been a privilege to work with someone who genuinely cares and wants to bring out the best in others. With Andy's help, I achieved what I had once considered impossible.

Thankyou Andy Adkins
