

Andy is a very pleasant person and a fantastic driving instructor. From my very first lesson he was dedicated to getting me to a good standard of driving. He is always very patient with you and will stay calm and professional in any situation. Anytime he teaches you something new, he will talk through it as clearly as possible and will answer any questions you have no matter how stupid you think they may sound. He will always pick up on the mistakes you make and will focus on improving your weaker skills to make you a more confident driver. He will make sure your driving is at a good standard before telling you that you can book a test to give you the best possible chance of passing. On top of all this, Andy is a very pleasant and kind person and will always make you feel safe and relaxed while driving.

I would like to thank Andy for all the fun and enjoyable lessons I had with him over the last 6 months and for giving me the skills and experience to pass first time! I would highly recommend Andy to anyone looking for reliable and affordable driving lessons no matter how much or how little driving experience you have had. Once again thank you very much for everything!
