

"I had driving lessons throughout my final year of college but never felt confident enough to apply for a test before I went to University. Four years later, I decided to start lessons again and Andy helped me work my way up to the standard I had been at and surpass it. Instructions are explained easily and when things go wrong Andy is patient and really supportive. Many of my friends applied for their tests without feeling confident and gained bad results, but Andy won't push you to apply for your test before he thinks you're ready which is really important.

Did I expect to pass my test first time? Absolutely not. But I did! And it's all thanks to Andy (:

Best wishes,
Victoria"
